Current Approaches to Cerebrovascular Disorders & Neuro Critical Care

Educational Program sponsored by
Winthrop-University Hospital

Needs Analysis:

To introduce and discuss new developments of stroke and neurocritical care through a series of lectures and case presentations based on requests from voluntary & faculty clinicians. Participate in informal discussions about patient management. Have ample opportunity to ask specific questions about treatments for adults with stroke risks.

Program Objectives:

Through a series of lectures by prominent leaders in the field of Cerebrovascular Disorders, attendees will be able to:

1. Understand the variety of stroke and neurocritical care interventions.
2. Understand the indications, risks and benefits of stroke and neurocritical care treatments.
3. Manage patients with stroke.
4. Identify risk factors for cerebrovascular disease.
